

Rev. Eloy González is a second career pastor who has served as a senior project manager for a medical informatics company, an instructor in computer technology and statistics at both undergraduate and graduate levels. He is currently retired from pastoral ministry after nearly twenty-five years of service as Deacon, church planter, Pastor of Christ Our Savior Lutheran Church – San Antonio, Associate Director of the Center for Hispanic Studies at Concordia Seminary - St. Louis, and Senior Pastor of Our Redeemer Lutheran Church - Irving. As well, Rev. González served a six-year term on the Synodical Board for Mission Services and served nine years as Texas District Area B Vice President. Eloy's passion is identifying and helping to prepare and credential workers for ministry. A number of pastors and deaconesses have entered ministry through the work of Pr. González. His great joy is seeing these servants grow and begin to use God's gifts in service to God's people.
